

Deyan Kostovski, AMA

Communications

Deyan is a communications and stakeholder relations strategist with expertise in developing knowledge translation campaigns, concept design initiatives and community outreach.

In tandem with his oversight of Methologica communications initiatives, Deyan actively contributes to project specific activities including participation in early stakeholder engagement, development of communications materials to promote the design research and evaluation activities, liaison between the infield research team and client to develop ongoing communications interventions as required and distilling the findings that are most relevant to share (via interim briefing notes, final reports as well as other media when appropriate) with various stakeholders and target audiences.

Deyan's stakeholder relations skills have been used to manage ongoing relationships with the Ontario Ministry of Health and Long Term Care, the Canadian Standards Association, Partnerships BC, Ministry of Health in British Columbia, regional health authorities, project partners and architecture firms.

He brings a balance of experience from the public, private and international sectors. Deyan was a senior advisor to a Federal Cabinet Minister and has played a key role on the central campaign team during federal and provincial elections. He has provided consulting services to start-up businesses, foreign investment agencies and worked for an intergovernmental organization in Europe.
